

Aurangabad Circuit

Abhijit Bhatlekar

Outlook Traveler, September 2009, Page No. 82 A fortuitious cluster of unrelated gems, Aurangabad, Daulatabad, Ajanta and Ellora comprise a weekend circuit. Aurangabad serves as a base and has its own historic treats-the Aurangabad Caves and Bibi ka Maqbara just 14km away, Daulatabad's spectacular fort broods atop a 640-ft hill, the well-preserved Jama Masjid mosque at its base. The town of Khuldabad is known as Aurangzeb's tomb, but its eclipsed by the sheer magnificence of the Jain, Hindu and Buddhist rock caves at near by Ellora. And the lush, ancient cave paintings at Ajanta are only 104km away. The smart Lemon Tree Hotel, Aurangabad(from Rs 3,300; www.lemontreehotels.com) is a good stay option.
